

*The Cumberland Collection of Fishing &
Shooting Bags*

The Scottish Borders and English Lakes are areas of outstanding national beauty and rugged scenery. In keeping with the area around us, we design and make bags of classic styling and extremely rugged construction, with strict quality control and great attention to detail. The best available natural British raw materials are combined with the skills and workmanship of our local craftsmen and women to great effect. Only items which form an integral part of each bag are utilised and no unnecessary details are added. This ensures that our products are exactly suitable for their purpose.

Including hunting, shooting and fishing bags our whole collection comprises well over 100 styles. A major portion of our work is exported (for which we have been fortunate in winning several awards) and our bags are to be found in the finest shooting, fishing and speciality shops in the United Kingdom and overseas. For years we have designed and made exclusive bag collections for clients (where volumes are sufficient) and bags bearing the logos of several world famous companies are made by Chapman & Company.

We all extensively use our award winning bags and expect them to last a very long time - we expect you will too!

Fishing Bags

All our fishing bags are fitted with copper anodised press fasteners and may be purchased with or without detachable waterproof rubber/cotton liner. (If unspecified we will despatch with liner). Brass rings are fitted higher on the wide webbing shoulder strap. This ensures that landing nets, wading staffs, etc do not drag on the ground. Inside each fishing bag is a simple small pocket, useful for keys, wallet or fishing licence, etc.

All our guncovers and gunslips are of heavy duty construction. We use the heaviest nylon zips available (to protect gunstocks) with automatic locking sliders and several rows of stitching (to date we have never had a zip failure) zipped covers open the full length for ease of drying. All slings are of one inch wide, solid leather.

Material Specifications

The following main components are carefully selected and continuously monitored for consistent quality.

Cloth

Fine multi-layered cotton canvas bonded together with natural rubber, which is both rot and waterproof.

Leather

Best leather strappings and bindings, specially prepared to our own requirements.

Brass Fittings

Buckles, rings, slides, loops, studs and snap-links are cast of solid brass (brass plated fittings may eventually rust, damaging leather and canvas) our D-rings, slides, loops and rings are solid cast construction and not joined, eliminating a potential area of weakness.

Shoulder Straps

Wide strong cotton webbing is used which, wherever possible continues right around the bags for additional strength.

Zips

We use the heaviest zips obtainable and sew them into the bag with not one, but two rows of heavy stitching.

Thread

Heavy duty abrasion resistant mountaineering type thread is used which is also lubricated for rot-proofing.

Seams are stitched at least twice for strength with thread which is specially dyed to match our canvases and leathers.

Quality Control

Every bag is examined several times both during and after construction. Bags will only be approved and initialled by the final examiner when we are satisfied that every detail is as perfect as possible.
